

Social activities by B.Sc Biotechnology students during Lock-down period

Food distribution by students

Students had done different activities by distributing food to people who are facing crisis during this pandemic students participate in these activities at their local area.

